

Kurt M. Kotrschal, Mag.rer.nat., Prof. Dr.,

born May 5, 1953 in Linz, Austria, married since 1975, two children, lives in Scharnstein, Upper Austria and Vienna studied Biology at University Salzburg, 1981 PhD and 1987 Habilitation

1976-1981 research visits at University of Arizona and Colorado, USA

Since 1990 director of Konrad Lorenz Forschungsstelle für Ethologie in Grünau/ Upper Austria (www.klf.ac.at) and Associated professor at the University of Vienna, Department of Behavioural Biology.

Co-founder of the Wolf Science Center (www.wolfscience.at).

More than 200 scientific publications journals, book-chapters and books, among them Austrian Science Book 2013 and bestseller about human-animal relationships and dogs (2014, 2016). Austrian Scientist of the Year 2010, columnist of daily newspaper „Die Presse“

